The opera was written originally for production at the Theatre San Carlo at Naplus, but, owing to the objections of the Censor, withdrawn by the talented Alco pictacomposer, and eventually brought out at Rome. not, however, until the scene had been transferred to Boston, America, and the title changed from Gustavus the Third " to "Un Ballo in Mas- Evonymus gibber. chera." But though the scene of the opera was thus altered it still retained an essentially Knompferia elegans. 2.—The general orderly appearance of the gardons has been maintained, and, with one excoption, no great disturbing influence occurred to cause much damage or destruction to plants or grounds. In former years the walks have sometimes received immense damages during heavy falls of rainin the storms to which we are subject, but the experience which has been gained of these destructive rains has been brought to bear on; what-was, defective drain. and water-channel works for their improvement. There are still some improvements required, but these will, I hope, as circumstances and means permit, be effected. The exception alluded to was a large land-slip which occurred in the Glencaly Ravine towards, the end of the rainy reason, carrying away a stone bridge and many tons of earth. The damage is still uhropaired. but now that money required for its repair has been voted. I hope seen to see the necessary works commenced. The present appearance is a sad disfigurement to the beautiful ravine, as well as the absence of the bridge being an inconvenience to visitors wishing to use the walk between Robinson Road and the New Garden

3.-Another injurious infinence, wind, has a much less destructive power on plants and trees in the gardens than it had a few years age when the trees were smaller. TEA MUSTERS.

Persons who send Musters of Tea through the most in Tins are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round tins securely in the mail The Contents and Value of Packages are re- bars. It is believed that the ten will travel more safely in flat tins, which are not so liable as round ones to be bulged in. 4 by 8 by 14 inches is suggested as a good size. The tins should not have sharp corners. Many boxes of letters are received at the Post Office not sealed, that is to say, the how is fastened with sealing wax, but there is no impression of a seal. The attention of boxholders is called to the necessity of carefully sealing such boxes with some recognisable seal, and of sending a chitbook or receipt with them. The omission of the latter precantion leaves a doubt as to whether the contents of the box ever reached the Post Office; the emission of the former, as to whether part of them might not have been abstracted for the sake of the Postage Stamps.

RATES OF POSTAGE.

BXTRACTS. CORREQUIO'S LAST ANGEL. From the Youth's Companion. The monks had shut his picture in, and yearning For one more last look, one, and yet one more, Heavily laden, with the hollows huming In his dusk chock, he left the convent door. Through the South sun he wandered homeward, mosning's " His Christ for silver gave the Jaw of old; Have I not sinned, like him, beyond atoning? My Christ for copper I to-day have sold." Along he walked, afraid to most the faces He loved the most on earth-Ah, bitter fatel His beautiful starving children, with hot traces . Of tears on checks, ware crowded at the gate. But one, the youngest, spent with innecent weeping Touched by the weird moon with a tender-boam Among the shadows in the straw lay sleeping, Forgotting all, and laughing at her dream. Her father looked at her and lifted slowly His dying hand, -" Give me my brush," he said ;-When his " Last Augel," radiant and holy, Looked at him with his child's eyes, he was dead. Ah, fover-tritten painter! if; not knowing What the cloydid, those claistered brothers there Gare Leath with broad, they left a legend, showing What glory may be cathered from despair. If, for those coins of copper they had given Gold, that is light to lift and quick to thy. The loveliest angel glimpsed this side of heaven-

TENORS ASTONISHED. One of our leading German musical contemporaries publishes an unusually funny angedote. Some time ago, ave "leading" vocalists engaged for a tour through South America, met for the first time on board the oconn steamer in which berths had been taken, and in the course of conversation made the discovery that they were all tenors and members of the same company. Unable to conjecture what object the impressrio could have had in providing himself with five tenors, they respectfully demanded an explanation of such unwonted lavisbness in their particular line. "Do not trouble your selves, gentlenien, about my arrangements," replied the enterprising manager; "I know what I am about perfectly well. Depend upon it, I shall want you all five. will see, soon after you get across, that three, Agents for the shove Company, are prepared to if not four, of you will die of fever, and I ACCEPT FIRE and MARINE RISKS at shall be dependent upon the survivor, who. Current Rates, allowing usual discounts, ever he may be, for all my first tenor parts. Experience in tropical and sub-tropical tours has taught me the necessity of providing against accidents of this description. Besides, please to consider what splendid professional prospect I ain opening out to at least one of your number. Gentlemen, vish you a very good morning!"

A famous Lady Macbeth "starring" in America, had been accidentally detained on her journey to a remote theatre. She arrived in time only to change her dress rapid. Company, are prepared to GRANT POLICIES ly, and burry on the scene. The performers against FIRE to the extent of $60,000 on any were all strangers to her. At the conclusion one of her first seliloguy a messenger should enter to announce the coming of King Duncan. But what was her amazement to hear DUCED TO I PER CENT NETT PER ANNUI to ber demand, "What is your tidings?" FROM THIS DATE. not the usual reply, " Phe King comes here to-night," but the whisper, spoken from behind a Scotch bonnet, up-held to prevent the words from reaching the ears of the andieuce, " Hush! I'm Macbeth. -We've out the messenger out-go on, please!" Auother disconcerted performer must have narily played Harlequin, and could not Rates. enter without something of that tripping and twirling gait peculiar to pantomimebrought the information, long before it was due, that "the Duke of Buckingham is taken!" "Not yet, you fool," whispered Richard. "Beg pardon; thought he was," cried Harlequin Radeliffe, as, carried away by his feelings or the force of habit, he threw what tumblers call "a catherine wheel!" and

BLUNDERS OF ACTORS.

KING HUMBERT HOBNOBBING WITH . A PEASANT.

King Humbert of Italy is foul of shoot-. ing, and from time to time separates bimself from his suite, and gun in hand goes out alone in search of game, accompanied by his two fevourite dogs. During one of his excursions he was met by a peasant, who looked on with admiration at the bavoc the King had made among a covey of partridges. He did not know the monarch, and seeing him in the dress of an ordinary sportsman, complimented him on his skill with his gun, and then told him that if he would come to his farm on the following morning at daybreak and kill a fox which had made several raids on his hen roost he would not mind giving him a couple of francs for his trouble. King Humbert kept the appointment, and was fortunate enough to kill the fox. The delighted peasant welcomed him on his return, called his wife and children out, and insisted on the King sharing their breakfast withthem. At'the end of the repast the peasant. took leave of his visitor, pressing a two-fraue piece in his hand, which the King tossed up Goods stored therein. in the air and caught, declaring it was the first money he had ever earned. Two days afterwards the peasant was surprised to see an officer in uniform ride up in an open carriage with presents from the King for his wife and children. He then learnt to whom the familiar manner in which he had hobnobbed with royalty.
